

Strategic Engagement of Primary Care to Improve Care for Seniors with Complex Care Needs

Session One: Keys to success for the strategic element of system integration as demonstrated by the Primary Care Memory Clinic model

Presenter: Dr. Linda Lee, MD, MCI(Sc),CCFP, FCFP, Director, CFFM Memory Clinic ;CFFM-RIA, Director for Primary Healthcare Education, Schlegel-UW Research Institute for Aging; Associate Clinical Professor, Department of Family Medicine, McMaster University

References

Lee, L., Hillier, L.M., Harvey, D. Integrating community services into primary care: Improving the quality of dementia care. Neurodegenerative Disease Management. (Accepted November 2013)

Lee, L., Hillier, L.M., Weston, W.W. Ensuring the success of interprofessional teams: Key lessons learned in the development and implementation of primary care-based Memory Clinics. Canadian Journal on Aging. (Accepted May 2013)

Lee, L., Hillier, L.M., Weston, W.W. Developing Memory Clinics in primary care: An evidence-based interprofessional program of continuing professional development. The Journal of Continuing Education in the Health Professions. 2013;33(1): 24-32

Lee, L., Kasperski, M.J., Weston, W.W. Building capacity for dementia care: A training program to develop Primary Care Memory Clinics. Canadian Family Physician. 2011; 57(7):e249-e252

Lee, L., Hillier, L., Heckman, G., Gagnon, M. Improving the system of care for older adults with dementia: Building capacity at the primary care level. Alzheimer's and Dementia. 2012;8(4):P443.